811 internal links are broken	811
About this issue: Broken internal links lead users from one webpage to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded. Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken. Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website.	0
How to fix: Please follow all links reported as broken. If a target webpage returns an error, remove the link leading to the error page or replace it with another resource. If the links reported as broken do work when accessed with a browser, you should contact the website's owner and inform them about the issue.
105 internal images are broken	105
About this issue: An internal broken image is an image that can't be displayed because it no longer exists, its URL is misspelled, or because the file path is not valid. Broken images may jeopardize your search rankings because they provide a poor user experience and signal to search engines that your page is low quality.	0
How to fix: To fix a broken internal image, perform one of the following: - If an image is no longer located in the same location, change its URL - If an image was deleted or damaged, replace it with a new one - If an image is no longer needed, simply remove it from your page's code

80 issues with duplicate title tags About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate title tags only if they are exact matches. Duplicate <title> tags make it difficult for search engines to determine which of a website's pages is relevant for a specific search query, and which one should be prioritized in search results. Pages with duplicate titles have a lower chance of ranking well and are at risk of being banned. Moreover, identical <title> tags confuse users as to which webpage they should follow. How to fix: Provide a unique and concise title for each of your pages that contains your most important keywords. For information on how to create effective titles, please see this Google article. You can also view the On-Page SEO Basics: Meta Descriptions article	80 0
80 pages have duplicate content issues About this issue: Webpages are considered duplicates if their content is 85% identical. Having duplicate content may significantly affect your SEO performance. First of all, Google will typically show only one duplicate page, filtering other instances out of its index and search results, and this page may not be the one you want to rank. In some cases, search engines may consider duplicate pages as an attempt to manipulate search engine rankings and, as a result, your website may be downgraded or even banned from search results. Moreover, duplicate pages may dilute your link profile. How to fix: Here are a few ways to fix duplicate content issues: - Add a rel="canonical" link to one of your duplicate pages to inform search engines which page to show in search results - Use a 301 redirect from a duplicate page to the original one - Use a rel="next" and a rel="prev" link attribute to fix pagination duplicates - Instruct GoogleBot to handle URL parameters differently using Google Search Console - Provide some unique content on the webpage For more information, please read these articles: \"Duplicate content\" and \"Consolidate duplicate URLs\"	80 0

80 pages have duplicate meta descriptions About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate meta descriptions only if they are exact matches. A <meta description> tag is a short summary of a webpage's content that helps search engines understand what the page is about and can be shown to users in search results. Duplicate meta descriptions on different pages mean a lost opportunity to use more relevant keywords. Also, duplicate meta descriptions make it difficult for search engines and users to differentiate between different webpages. It is better to have no meta description at all than to have a duplicate one. How to fix: Provide a unique, relevant meta description for each of your webpages. For information on how to create effective meta descriptions, please see this Google article . You can also view the On-Page SEO Basics: Meta Descriptions article	80 0
9 pages returned 4XX status code About this issue: A 4xx error means that a webpage cannot be accessed. This is usually the result of broken links. These errors prevent users and search engine robots from accessing your webpages, and can negatively affect both user experience and search engine crawlability. This will in turn lead to a drop in traffic driven to your website. Please be aware that crawler may detect a working link as broken if your website blocks our crawler from accessing it. This usually happens due to the following reasons: - DDoS protection system - Overloaded or misconfigured server How to fix: If a webpage returns an error, remove all links leading to the error page or replace it with another resource. To identify all pages on your website that contain links to a 4xx page, click "View broken links" next to the error page. If the links reported as 4xx do work when accessed with a browser, you can try either of the following: - Contact your web hosting support team - Instruct search engine robots not to crawl your website too frequently by specifying the "crawl-delay" directive in your robots.txt	9 0

1 structured data item is invalid About this issue: This issue is triggered if structured data items contain fields that do not meet Google's guidelines . Implementing and maintaining your structured data correctly is important if you want to get an edge over your competitors in search results. If your website markup has errors, crawlers will not be able to properly understand it, and you may run the risk of losing the chance of gaining rich snippets and getting more favorable rankings. For more information on the structured data requirements, see schema.org , Google documentation , or our article . How to fix: Check structured data on your webpages with a validation tool. Please note that different markup testing tools may show different results. We recommend that you use the Rich Results Test tool to review and validate your pages' structured data against their rich snippet requirements.	1 0

436 external links are broken About this issue: Broken external links lead users from one website to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded. Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken. Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website. 378 pages have low text-HTML ratio About this issue: Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less. Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results. Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster. How to fix: Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.	378 0

181 pages have too much text within the title tags About this issue: Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page. For more information, please see this Google article How to fix: Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.	181 0
1 URL with a temporary redirect About this issue: Temporary redirects (i.e., a 302 and a 307 redirect) mean that a page has been temporarily moved to a new location. Search engines will continue to index the redirected page, and no link juice or traffic is passed to the new page, which is why temporary redirects can damage your search rankings if used by mistake. How to fix: Review all URLs to make sure the use of 302 and 307 redirects is justified. If so, don't forget to remove them when they are no longer needed. However, if you permanently move any page, replace a 302/307 redirect with a 301/308 one.	1 0

1011 orphaned pages in sitemaps About this issue: An orphaned page is a webpage that is not linked to internally. Including orphaned pages in your sitemap.xml files is considered to be a bad practice, as these pages will be crawled by search engines. Crawling outdated orphaned pages will waste your crawl budget. If an orphaned page in your sitemap.xml file has valuable content, we recommend that you link to it internally. How to fix: Review all orphaned pages in your sitemap.xml files and do either of the following: - If a page is no longer needed, remove it - If a page has valuable content and brings traffic to your website, link to it from another page on your website - If a page serves a specific need and requires no internal linking, leave it as is	1.01K 0
316 pages have only one incoming internal link About this issue: Having few incoming internal links means little to no visits or chances of being placed in search results. How to fix: Add more incoming internal links to pages with important content.	316 0
45 links have non-descriptive anchor text About this issue: The issue is triggered if the anchor text for a link (internal or external) is non-descriptive. An anchor is considered to be non-descriptive if it doesn't say what the page is about (click here, right here, etc.). This issue makes it difficult for the target page to be indexed by search engines and rank for relevant search requests. Learn more How to fix: To let users and search engines understand the meaning of the linked-to page, use succinct anchor text that describes the page's content. Learn more	45 0

7 pages need more than 3 clicks to be reached About this issue: A page's crawl depth is the number of clicks required for users and search engine crawlers to reach it via its corresponding homepage. From an SEO perspective, an excessive crawl depth may pose a great threat to your optimization efforts, as both crawlers and users are less likely to reach deep pages. For this reason, pages that contain important content should be no more than 3 clicks away from your homepage. How to fix: Make sure that pages with important content can be reached within a few clicks. If any of them are buried too deep in your site, consider changing your internal link architecture.	70
2 URLs with a permanent redirect About this issue: Although using permanent redirects (a 301 or 308 redirect) is appropriate in many situations (for example, when you move a website to a new domain, redirect users from a deleted page to a new one, or handle duplicate content issues), we recommend that you keep them to a reasonable minimum. Every time you redirect one of your website's pages, it decreases your crawl budget, which may run out before search engines can crawl the page you want to be indexed. Moreover, too many permanent redirects can be confusing to users. How to fix: Review all URLs with a permanent redirect. Change permanent redirects to a target page URL where possible.	20
1 page has more than one H1 tag About this issue: Although multiple <h1> tags are allowed in HTML5, we still do not recommend that you use more than one <h1> tag per page. Including multiple <h1> tags may confuse users. How to fix: Use multiple <h2>-<h6> tags instead of an <h1>.	10
llms.txt not found About this issue: The llms.txt file helps AI search engines better understand your website's content by providing LLM-friendly information. This file offers a short summary, guidance, and links to other useful resources. How to fix: • Create an llms.txt file. • Place it in your website's root directory and ensure the file is accessible. • Refer to llmstxt.org for examples and tips on how to properly create and manage it.	10

Detailed Errors

Broken internal links

Project name: surajwood.com

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Broken internal links lead users from one webpage to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded.

Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken. Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website.

How to fix:

Please follow all links reported as broken. If a target webpage returns an error, remove the link leading to the error page or replace it with another resource.

If the links reported as broken do work when accessed with a browser, you should contact the website's owner and inform them about the issue.

Only the first 50 rows are shown in reports. To view the full table, export it as a CSV or Excel file from Site Audit.

Broken internal images

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

An internal broken image is an image that can't be displayed because it no longer exists, its URL is misspelled, or because the file path is not valid. Broken images may jeopardize your search rankings because they provide a poor user experience and signal to search engines that your page is low quality.

How to fix:

To fix a broken internal image, perform one of the following:

- If an image is no longer located in the same location, change its URL
- If an image was deleted or damaged, replace it with a new one
- If an image is no longer needed, simply remove it from your page's code

Only the first 50 rows are shown in reports. To view the full table, export it as a CSV or Excel file from Site Audit.

Duplicate title tags

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate title tags only if they are exact matches.

Duplicate <title> tags make it difficult for search engines to determine which of a website's pages is relevant for a specific search query, and which one should be prioritized in search results. Pages with duplicate titles have a lower chance of ranking well and are at risk of being banned.

Moreover, identical <title> tags confuse users as to which webpage they should follow.

How to fix:

Provide a unique and concise title for each of your pages that contains your most important keywords.

For information on how to create effective titles, please see this Google article.

Duplicate content

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Webpages are considered duplicates if their content is 85% identical.

Having duplicate content may significantly affect your SEO performance.

First of all, Google will typically show only one duplicate page, filtering other instances out of its index and search results, and this page may not be the one you want to rank.

In some cases, search engines may consider duplicate pages as an attempt to manipulate search engine rankings and, as a result, your website may be downgraded or even banned from search results.

Moreover, duplicate pages may dilute your link profile.

How to fix:

Here are a few ways to fix duplicate content issues:

- Add a rel="canonical" link to one of your duplicate pages to inform search engines which page to show in search results
- Use a 301 redirect from a duplicate page to the original one
- Use a rel="next" and a rel="prev" link attribute to fix pagination duplicates
- Instruct GoogleBot to handle URL parameters differently using Google Search Console
- Provide some unique content on the webpage

Duplicate meta descriptions

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate meta descriptions only if they are exact matches.

A <meta description> tag is a short summary of a webpage's content that helps search engines understand what the page is about and can be shown to users in search results.

Duplicate meta descriptions on different pages mean a lost opportunity to use more relevant keywords. Also, duplicate meta descriptions make it difficult for search engines and users to differentiate between different webpages. It is better to have no meta description at all than to have a duplicate one.

How to fix:

Provide a unique, relevant meta description for each of your webpages.

For information on how to create effective meta descriptions, please see this Google article.

4xx errors

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

A 4xx error means that a webpage cannot be accessed. This is usually the result of broken links. These errors prevent users and search engine robots from accessing your webpages, and can negatively affect both user experience and search engine crawlability. This will in turn lead to a drop in traffic driven to your website. Please be aware that crawler may detect a working link as broken if your website blocks our crawler from accessing it. This usually happens due to the following reasons:

- DDoS protection system
- Overloaded or misconfigured server

How to fix:

If a webpage returns an error, remove all links leading to the error page or replace it with another resource.

To identify all pages on your website that contain links to a 4xx page, click "View broken links" next to the error page.

If the links reported as 4xx do work when accessed with a browser, you can try either of the following:

- Contact your web hosting support team
- Instruct search engine robots not to crawl your website too frequently by specifying the "crawl-delay" directive in your robots.txt

Invalid structured data items

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

This issue is triggered if structured data items contain fields that do not meet Google's guidelines.

Implementing and maintaining your structured data correctly is important if you want to get an edge over your competitors in search results.

If your website markup has errors, crawlers will not be able to properly understand it, and you may run the risk of losing the chance of gaining rich snippets and getting more favorable rankings.

For more information on the structured data requirements, see schema.org, Google documentation, or our article.

How to fix:

Check structured data on your webpages with a validation tool. Please note that different markup testing tools may show different results.

We recommend that you use the Rich Results Test tool to review and validate your pages' structured data against their rich snippet requirements.

Detailed Issue: Warnings

Detailed Warnings

Broken external links

Project name: surajwood.com

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Broken external links lead users from one website to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded.

Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken. Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website.

How to fix:

Please follow all links reported as broken. If a target webpage returns an error, remove the link leading to the error page or replace it with another resource.

If the links reported as broken do work when accessed with a browser, you should contact the website's owner and inform them about the issue.

Only the first 50 rows are shown in reports. To view the full table, export it as a CSV or Excel file from Site Audit.

Low text to HTML ratio

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less.

Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results.

Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster.

How to fix:

Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

Only the first 50 rows are shown in reports. To view the full table, export it as a CSV or Excel file from Site Audit.

Long title element

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page.

For more information, please see this Google article

How to fix:

Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.

Only the first 50 rows are shown in reports. To view the full table, export it as a CSV or Excel file from Site Audit.

Temporary redirects

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Temporary redirects (i.e., a 302 and a 307 redirect) mean that a page has been temporarily moved to a new location. Search engines will continue to index the redirected page, and no link juice or traffic is passed to the new page, which is why temporary redirects can damage your search rankings if used by mistake.

How to fix:

Review all URLs to make sure the use of 302 and 307 redirects is justified. If so, don't forget to remove them when they are no longer needed. However, if you permanently move any page, replace a 302/307 redirect with a 301/308 one.

Detailed Notices

Orphaned sitemap pages

Project name: surajwood.com

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

An orphaned page is a webpage that is not linked to internally. Including orphaned pages in your sitemap.xml files is considered to be a bad practice, as these pages will be crawled by search engines. Crawling outdated orphaned pages will waste your crawl budget. If an orphaned page in your sitemap.xml file has valuable content, we recommend that you link to it internally.

How to fix:

Review all orphaned pages in your sitemap.xml files and do either of the following:

- If a page is no longer needed, remove it
- If a page has valuable content and brings traffic to your website, link to it from another page on your website
- If a page serves a specific need and requires no internal linking, leave it as is

Pages with only one internal link

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Having few incoming internal links means little to no visits or chances of being placed in search results.

How to fix:

Add more incoming internal links to pages with important content.

Only the first 50 rows are shown in reports. To view the full table, export it as a CSV or Excel file from Site Audit.

Links with non-descriptive anchor text

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

The issue is triggered if the anchor text for a link (internal or external) is non-descriptive. An anchor is considered to be non-descriptive if it doesn't say what the page is about (click here, right here, etc.). This issue makes it difficult for the target page to be indexed by search engines and rank for relevant search requests. Learn more

How to fix:

To let users and search engines understand the meaning of the linked-to page, use succinct anchor text that describes the page's content. Learn more

Page Crawl Depth more than 3 clicks

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

A page's crawl depth is the number of clicks required for users and search engine crawlers to reach it via its corresponding homepage. From an SEO perspective, an excessive crawl depth may pose a great threat to your optimization efforts, as both crawlers and users are less likely to reach deep pages.

For this reason, pages that contain important content should be no more than 3 clicks away from your homepage.

How to fix:

Make sure that pages with important content can be reached within a few clicks.

If any of them are buried too deep in your site, consider changing your internal link architecture.

Permanent redirects

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Although using permanent redirects (a 301 or 308 redirect) is appropriate in many situations (for example, when you move a website to a new domain, redirect users from a deleted page to a new one, or handle duplicate content issues), we recommend that you keep them to a reasonable minimum. Every time you redirect one of your website's pages, it decreases your crawl budget, which may run out before search engines can crawl the page you want to be indexed. Moreover, too many permanent redirects can be confusing to users.

How to fix:

Review all URLs with a permanent redirect. Change permanent redirects to a target page URL where possible.

Multiple h1 tags

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:
Although multiple <h1> tags are allowed in HTML5, we still do not recommend that you use more than one <h1> tag per page. Including multiple <h1> tags may confuse users.

How to fix:
Use multiple <h2>-<h6> tags instead of an <h1>.

Llms.txt not found

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

The `llms.txt` file helps AI search engines better understand your website's content by providing LLM-friendly information. This file offers a short summary, guidance, and links to other useful resources.

How to fix:

- Create an `llms.txt` file.
- Place it in your website's root directory and ensure the file is accessible.
- Refer to lmstxt.org for examples and tips on how to properly create and manage it.

Content not optimized

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Content optimization enhances on-page clarity, improves user engagement, snippet eligibility, and topical authority. It's especially important for pages with a lot of content.

How to fix:

- Follow the advice provided in the error details for each page.
- Improve your content with AI using the Content Optimizer tool.
